

POLITICIANS AT WEEK-END.

Alfred E. Smith Heads Gathering at Opening of New Canoe Place Inn.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Dec. 10.—A general conference of Tammany Hall powers and Democratic State officials-elect was held over the week-end at Canoe Place Inn, Hampton Bays, formerly Good Ground. This afternoon when the conclave ended there came a general denial that politics had been discussed. Members of the party said that they had merely come down to help Julius Kellar open his new house, which replaced the old inn destroyed by fire, and to play golf.

In the party were Governor-elect Alfred E. Smith, Charles F. Murphy, Supreme Court Justice Robert L. Wagner, Surrogate James A. Foley, Senator James J. Walker, Assemblyman Charles Donohue, Phillip Donohue, Treasurer of Tammany Hall; Norman E. Mack, Major James W. Fleming of Troy, Controller-elect; John T. McCooey, Henry Snyder, Dock Commissioner John H. Delaney, Judge Joseph Moss, City Court Justice-elect John E. McGeehan, Nicholas J. Hayes, James A. Early and Charles T. Meyers.

The golf players and house openers reached the inn on Saturday night in time for dinner. Led by Mr. Smith, Catholic members went to mass at Sacred Heart Church here this morning. In the afternoon they went to the Shinnecock golf course. A foursome consisted of Governor-elect Smith and Surrogate Foley against Justice Wagner and Senator Walker. The Governor-elect and his teammate won in a drive. Mr. Murphy led the gallery in the wake of the players.
